Word has it that the Lib-Dems are tuning in to Christianity - After being crucified by the the voting electorate they are praying for a resurrection.

Labour MP's are studying the medical problem of constipation - when asked questions nothing meaningful comes out.

UKip have severed their links with greyhound racing - because many people expressed that after a referendum their policy will go to the dogs

It is said that Conservatives like the underdog - they bitch at the lower paid.

To be a Conservative you have to believe in the rich and everyone else should work for pleasure not money. (Hookers excluded.)

A survey completed by MP's asked - are the public important to your party? - 99% said NO.....only just before an election.

All political parties urge everyone to vote - So, please, everyone - go to the poles to vote - and select the best dancer.

Can politicians be compared to horses - they nag the electorate, push to be first past the post, and after winning, they wear blinkers.

The EU managed what others could not - Britain was to be conquered in 1940 within 4 weeks - it failed. Britain's sovereign rights were then signed away in 1973 and 1993.
