The emphasis on humanity is a passage from life to death. The lifespan of a human compared to the rest of creation is minuscule in time. The human body begins life programmed into physicality with a related short life expectancy. The name of 'programme' not usually associated with humans but relates to computers creating a humorous point in its word usage. A network is a programmable product that contains systems, procedures, and memory. The primary feed input works in bits and bytes and is all about mathematics. The next step is similar to learning another language.

Is the human mind so different from an electronic processor? The human brain is a sole living computer. Therefore, in reality there must be a fundamental biological strategy. Upon its future discovery, human minds will be able to be repaired, rebooted and brought to peak efficiency. The human brain brings to the surface many repressed memories both happy and unhappy. It is subtly programmed with different frequencies and vibrations that yet are the secret mathematics of the future. Scientists are still not able to identify the quantum essence (subatomic) implanted into the brains of all humanity. There are many, many documented cases of unworldly events including one of a brain surgeon. Occasions dismissed as improbable by the doubters refuted as chemical disorders of the brain. Yet the recipients know that they have been somewhere unusual.

There are two distinct computers in the world, the technology machine and the brain (biological computer). As an author, I have been one of those recipients. The knowledge received within retained and of a personal nature. It is for evaluation purposes on a strictly confidential basis. This information may be beneficial to persons who think alike, but meaningless to the vast army of sceptics.

Well documented in physics is the space-time continuum. The physical universe has three dimensions, (length, width and height) plus temporal duration, time. The string theory advocates many other realities existing alongside this one. Every sphere of space-time contains a vast array of mathematics.

Many beautiful equations explaining how existence works, (Einstein) the general theory of relativity. The bending and warping of the fabric of space-time – dark energy - dark matter. (Lagrange) the standard model – electromagnetism – smallest observed particles of matter. (Isaac Newton) Calculus – motions of planets around the sun. (Pythagoras)-A simple formula. It is quickly switched to find Radius, diameter, circumference, volume and area, etc. (Euler) Patterns in simple shapes.

People have inside their body a different formula to explore named DNA algorithms. This use of mathematics used to determine ancestry, future health problems and crime. Delving deeper into advanced creation mathematics revealed propel the human race forward. Our shape and form are uniquely physical, a brain, torso, arms, legs all assembled for a natural purpose.

Life and creation are a majestic code of numbers.

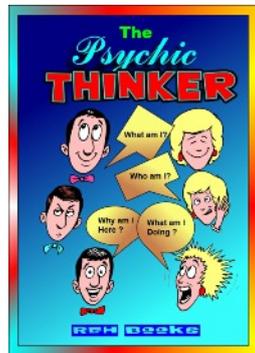

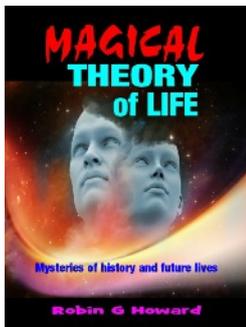

Once the frequencies become recognisable mathematically, humankind will leave the age of the supernatural, occult, and paranormal. It will not be a smooth transition. The revelation of the human mind will have reached a peak capacity causing terror, horror, ecstasy and knowledge. The present technological age is the forerunner of the spiritual maturity, the dawn of enlightenment.

Physical existence consists of three sections made up of the astral mirror body – the Creator, or God, or code spirit essence – the physical body. It is an enlightened self-knowledge for all those that have reached the state of the mystic nirvana or travelled from physical existence. Do not see God as visualised by our ancestors. Even today, we see God more in the way of the human genre, a genial old man with a beard staring down at us. This was the only way our ancestors could explain such profundity. We are told to pray and given approval for worshipping him and condemnation for disobedience. The world is continually changing, and so are the physical forms upon it.

We are here to witness, participate, ascertain, and discover ourselves in this vast wilderness of physicality. We tend to ignore this living in our own circular mire of self-interest whether in opulence or poverty. We have at times all been ensnared by ourselves instead of pursuing a purity of spirit.

Believe in the Creator (the Benevolent Supreme Divine Code) for it dwells in each one of us and is nothing to do with Earthly religion.

Creation is pure mathematics, codes and formulas and advanced equations'. God as visualised is creation, the creator and is, therefore, an advanced mathematician. God is the code, the formula, the energy in whatever form and contained in everything. The word God will eventually become obsolete.

Do you believe in some method of divinity? When do we approach human maturity so that all will be revealed?

A new book - Magical Theory of Life is a compilation of different aspects of life and death exploring all the hidden divine worlds. The human race is on the fringe of discovering a fantastic new existence granted for when we are prepared. It will sweep our worldly God and Gods away forever in the revelation of divine change.
